The debut album from Out of Bounds

Representing the Twin Cities, Out of Bounds formed in the mid 90's from a group of individuals immersed in hip-hop culture. In the height of the rave party era, members of the group became transfixed on the sound of electronic music, which greatly influenced the group's musical ideas. The outcome of this is evident in the decade-long music making endeavor that resulted in the release of the group's debut album, hedfonmuzik. With the help of co-producer Stephen Wayne, the album was polished into the work it is today.

Out of Bounds is priviledged to have colabored artistically with many talened groups, including Try D, Cheap Cologne, Josh Jonz, and Carnage. Out of Bounds has been playing live shows for years, perfoming with local and national groups:
